Remember all of our deceased loved ones in your prayers

Dear Brothers and Sisters,

Come Follow Me

Discipleship is a life-long commitment and calls for renewal again and again. Today's gospel gives us not just instances of different individuals unable to make that commitment, but also a reminder to us all of how we sometimes fail to leave up to our own commitment to follow the Lord who has called us. Each occasion to choose between right and wrong, just and unjust, is a moment to express and cement our discipleship.

The Catechism gives us some insight into some elements of true discipleship:

“Christ is the center of all Christian life. The bond with him takes precedence over all other bonds, familial or social. From the very beginning of the Church there have been men and women who have renounced the great good of marriage to follow the Lamb wherever he goes, to be intent on the things of the Lord, to seek to please him, and to go out to meet the Bridegroom who is coming. Christ himself has invited certain persons to follow him in this way of life, of which he remains the model: ‘For there are eunuchs who have been so from birth, and there are eunuchs who have been made eunuchs by men, and there are eunuchs who have made themselves eunuchs for the sake of the kingdom of heaven. He who is able to receive this, let him receive it’ (CCC, 1618)

“Grave matter is specified by the Ten Commandments, corresponding to the answer of Jesus to the rich young man: ‘Do not kill, Do not commit adultery, Do not steal, Do not bear false witness, Do not defraud, Honor your father and your mother.’ The gravity of sins is more or less great: murder is graver than theft. One must also take into account who is wronged: violence against parents is in itself graver than violence against a stranger. (CCC, 1858)

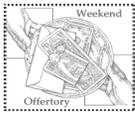

“Finally, our battle has to confront what we experience as failure in prayer: discouragement during periods of dryness; sadness that, because we have ‘great possessions,’ we have not given all to the Lord; disappointment over not being heard according to our own will; wounded pride, stiffened by the indignity that is ours as sinners; our resistance to the idea that prayer is a free and unmerited gift; and so forth. The conclusion is always the same: what good does it do to pray? To overcome these obstacles, we must battle to gain humility, trust, and perseverance.” (CCC, 2728)

Any genuine commitment must confront hurdles and obstacles to it. Sometimes we stumble, but we cannot stop striving to follow and keep our focus on the Master.

Have a blessed week everyone!

Fr. Bernardine

there are footprints on the moon.*

Rewriting the Story

Freedom is not always what it appears to be. The man in Mark 10:17-30 was free to be rich, but because of his riches he was not free to be happy. As free as he may have seemed to others, he knew in the depth of his heart that he was a slave, so he went away sad. Matthew describes him as very rich but his fear of letting go left him enslaved. The message of the story is one that crosses time, cultures, and even religions. It is a message opposed to the promises of Madison Avenue.

Socrates claimed happiness by never collecting that which he would be afraid to lose. Jesus has reminded us that the poor in spirit will inherit the earth. It may be good for us to put ourselves in the place of the Rich Man in Mark 10 and rewrite the story, at least the ending.

A Big Thanks to everyone who brought food, helped out or participated in our picnic by coming and enjoying the food & fellowship! A special shout out to the youth group for their involvement.

The school is taking orders for their Cookie Dough Fundraiser. There will be someone in the back to take your order. Please consider purchasing something to help the school. Not item is cookie dough. There is a variety of goodies to choose from. Last Weekend!!!
